The tax strategy of West Fraser Europe is consistent with West Fraser's overall global tax strategy and covers all UK entities consolidated in West Fraser's financial statements prepared under International Accounting Standards. West Fraser regards the publication of the information set out below as compliance with the duty under Finance Act 2016, Schedule 19, paragraph 19 to publish a tax strategy and applies for accounting periods ending within the 2023 calendar year.

West Fraser is committed to full compliance with all statutory obligations and full disclosure to tax authorities. The West Fraser Group's tax affairs are managed in a way which considers the corporate reputation in line with West Fraser's overall high standards of governance.

Risk Management and Governance

West Fraser's Audit Committee (AC), which is comprised of members of West Fraser's Board of Directors, has oversight for risk management for the West Fraser Group, including those risks related to taxation. The AC approves West Fraser's tax risk internal control framework and reviews material tax risks quarterly. The AC reports relevant tax matters to the Board of Directors if appropriate. UK tax risks are managed centrally as part of the overall internal control framework applicable to West Fraser's financial reporting obligations. The Chief Financial Officer and Tax Director have oversight of tax risks across the organization and are authorized to manage the tax risks and approve tax positions, tax settlements and payments, in accordance with the Policy.

Tax Planning

West Fraser seeks to comply with tax laws and filing deadlines in the jurisdictions in which all of its companies operate having regard to the legal and administrative practices in each jurisdiction. West Fraser may utilize available tax incentives, reliefs and exemptions provided these are aligned with the associated tax legislation. We employ the services of professional tax advisors from reputable accounting and legal firms when prudent. Their assistance is towards ensuring West Fraser meets its tax obligations when consulting on business decisions, for example acquisitions or the application of tax law.

Managing Tax Risk

West Fraser actively seeks to identify, evaluate, monitor and manage tax risks to ensure that they are consistent with West Fraser's objectives. In reviewing the tax risks associated with the business operations, West Fraser considers the following:

- legal duties of directors and employees;
- compliance with internal policies and procedures;
- impact on West Fraser's relationships with tax authorities; and
- maintenance of West Fraser's reputation as a world class diversified wood products company.

In situations where tax law is unclear or subject to interpretation or West Fraser does not have the internal expertise to assess a particular tax position, tax advice is obtained from external advisors who have the appropriate technical expertise.

Relationship with Her Majesty's Revenue and Customs (HMRC)

West Fraser are committed to maintaining a cooperative, transparent and open working relationship with HMRC and ensuring that any tax audits are efficiently and effectively managed. West Fraser seeks to make fair, accurate and timely disclosures in correspondence and tax returns and respond to queries in a timely manner.
